

104th Armored Battalion

Overview

The 104th Armored Battalion, known across the Republic as the Grand Army's most capable combined-arms units. When the war, defined by the rising Separatists influence and the droid production, the 104th filled in a critical gap in the Republic's units focus on offense or reconnaissance alone, the Wolfpack capability under one command, giving the Republic a shock as it can seize it.

This battalion embodies bravery, brotherhood, and unyielding distinctive gray armor bearing wolf motifs. These markings are more present the battalion's core identity: a pack that fights as one, protects their field.
