A-1 "Conquest"

Overview

Conquest was one of the original batches of ALPHA ARCs created by the Kaminoans, following the creation of the experimental NULL ARCs. He grew up as the very first of the ALPHA ARCs, given the designation of "A-1" or ALPHA-01.

He was trained alongside fellow ALPHAS, NULL ARCs and Mandalorian trainers. Unlike standard clone troopers, Conquest was trained to think beyond military doctrine.

Following the creation of the Alpha Program, Kaminoan scientists enhanced his cognitive flexibility, situational awareness, and adaptability while Mandalorian instructors pushed him through brutal combat regimens designed to create the ultimate battlefield commander.

Military Career

A-1 was assigned as the Alpha ARCs first captain. During his service a few months into the start of the war he was promoted to Executive Officer of ARC. After his promotion to XO, Conquest stepped away from the frontline to assist ARC Commander Thragg in administrative duties for the battalion. Conquest was later promoted to Battalion Commander of ARC after Thragg's death to the hands of Ventress.

Notable Engagements

Though it is known that Conquest has been at the spearhead of many delicate operations in favor of the Galactic Republic, many of his engagements remain classified. The little that is know is the conflict with Captain Starbeard, in which the Advanced Recon Commandos killed hundreds of pirates for an important republic artifact.

He is also recognized for his work on many different planets for using his superior tactics as an asset to normal infantry. Some of these planets include Ryloth, Cristophsis, Alderaan, Nevarro, and Tatooine. Conquest and his ARC regiment have proven their worth ten times over and continue to fight for the Republic till this day.
