

CC-4699 "Shu"

Overview

Commander Shu, originally designated CT-4699, was raised in the bacta tanks of the Kamino Cloning Facilities, where Kaminoan Scientists quickly noticed his high intelligence. During his early years, Shu served with the Coruscant Guard protecting the streets and underworld of Coruscant, earning respect after leading clone troopers through deadly gang wars, separatist attacks, and securing the senate.

Starting as a Private, he quickly ranked up to Lance Corporal. Shu's leadership and refusal to abandon his brothers led to rapid promotions to warrant officer, then lieutenant, and eventually Battalion Commander of the 401st Battalion.

Though strict and disciplined, Shu became famous among his men for treating every clone under his command like family. Despite his young age, CC-4699 "Shu" became the youngest in the battalion to ever achieve the rank of Commander.

Military Career

Commander Shu was also a great instructor. He was a LEA instructor and was then transferred to teach young cadets. He has also started a family and takes care of them. Shu has survived a huge number of battles and dangerous situations at such a young age. He has shut down spice businesses, protected the republic, defended Prime from the CIS, and commanded his men to achieve great victories.

Notable Engagements

Spice Rings of Coruscant

While stationed to defend the republic capital of Coruscant, he was tasked with a multitude of missions regarding illegal spice trades on the planet. Multiple engagements led to the arrests of high value targets. Though these illegal businesses pop up occasionally, Commander Shu has dealt with the bulk with an iron fist.

Invasion of Prime

As the war rages on, multiple battalions such as the 401st Legion, 87th Sentinel Corps, and the 41st Elite Corps were trapped after a space battle turned wrong and they crashed on the Separatist Military controlled planet. Shu along with CC-8715 "Samson" and other battalion commanders led the defense on the planet. All across the planet the fighting raged until the legions were able to wipe the planet free of enemy forces.
