

Rawlan Jall

Overview

Rawlan Jall, A Knight within the Jedi Order born on Kashyyyk, he rose to the ranks of Jedi Captain within the Coruscant Guard. He possesses exceptional Physical Strength and Durability where his mind is equally sharp.

Early Life

Rawlan Jall was born in the great city of Kahiyuk, Kashyyyk. As the middle "pup" of his family, he matured in a more reserved manner than his other siblings, he grew for several years as a regular Wookiee, before his connection to the force was fully realized when he unconsciously used the force to pull himself to a vine after falling from the top of a record high Wroshyr Tree.

This prompted his village elders to almost immediately contact The Jedi Order. Who were eager to add an individual with such dormant power at a young age into their ranks. Jall swiftly progressed as a youngling before descending the caves of Illium to achieve a green kyber crystal, signifying great mental fortitude and wisdom; All while being exceptionally strong physically.

Eventually he would be chosen to be the padawan of Jedi Master Leon, whom he would serve alongside within the Coruscant Guard until he began and passed his Knight Trials. Jall would however ultimately choose to remain with his master as an attaché within the 401st for the time being.
